

New various artists compilation in the works

I would like to officially announce that a new various artists compilation is in the works at Abridged Pause Recordings! After the immense success of our last compilation, "Diluvian Temperals", (which was also our very first release), we decided that we should show off what this music scene is up to three years later. Some of the bands on this compilation will be familiar to you, either from "Diluvian Temperals" or from our roster of bands, some will be brand new to our label. But all have something moving to share and we want it to hit you at the gut level. We hope to have this out for spring 2013 and fill your playlist with new post-black metal, post-metal, math-metal and avant-garde music. Stay tuned!