Vision Éternel introduces “The Last Great Torch Song” with a video

Alexandre Julien, the man behind Vision Éternel, filmed a promotional video last night with the help of Jeremy Roux (our fabulous web designer). The short film introduces the new release “The Last Great Torch Song” with its featured musicians and collaborators. Alexandre Julien is quickly breaking the trend of ambient and shoegaze by appearing in various interviews and making himself a recognizable target, sporting his 1940’s style fedora hat and overcoat. Jeremy Roux made makes the video as picturesque as the imagery created by Vision Éternel’s music.

Don’t forget to listen to the new Vision Éternel album, “The Last Great Torch Song“, and pick it up if you like it!
