Vision Eternel’s For Farewell Of Nostalgia Premieres On Invisible Oranges

Vision Eternel’s new extended play For Farewell Of Nostalgia has been kept private over the last few months while awaiting the September 14, 2020 release date. With the exception of some considerably different pre-production recordings that were released on Various Artists compilations in 2018 and 2019, and a teaser video titled A Preview Of For Farewell Of Nostalgia made available with Somewherecold Records’ and Geertruida’s pre-orders last summer, nothing else has been heard.

The distinguished online magazine Invisible Oranges is ending the silence today with an exclusive album streaming premiere, a full five days ahead of the release date! Long-time contributor, and current Senior Editor of Invisible Oranges Jon Rosenthal is to thank for this incredible opportunity! Jon has been helping Vision Eternel out since 2010, when he was Editor of The Inarguable.

Listen to For Farewell Of Nostalgia on Invisible Oranges!

Now that you have heard the extended play, you don’t have to wait for the release date to order the Compact Disc Edition from Somewherecold Records and the Compact Cassette Edition from Geertruida. The releases are in-hand at the record labels’ headquarters and will be going out to your mailbox next week.

The Digital Edition will be released on all major streaming and download platforms through Abridged Pause Recordings, as well as on Bandcamp through Somewherecold Records and Geertruida, on September 14, 2020.

Vision Eternel is still hoping to release a vinyl version of For Farewell Of Nostalgia in the near future!